

The Scientific Authority of South Africa (SASA) through SANBI engaged with various departments, scientists, ecologists, and the industry to revise the Cape Mountain Zebra (Equus zebra zebra) non-detrimental findings from 2015. WRSA made a call to members to please provide input regarding their Cape Mountain Zebra Populations which proved valuable in providing statistics and precise up to date information regarding the population numbers and reality on the ground. In the end a positive non-detrimental score was determined for the Cape Mountain Zebra and many of the challenges faced in the industry were addressed.

WRSA would like to express its sincere gratitude to all members involved. This process affirmed the need for the continued development of the WRSA online system as it demonstrated once more the importance of research and information gathering for the benefit of the industry.
